Visa requirements

EU Citizens

Citizens of the EU or Schengen member states may cross the Polish border on the basis of a valid travel document (passport/identity card).
Non-EU Citizens

Citizens of countries other than member states of the EU, Norway, Iceland, Liechtenstein and Switzerland, may cross the external borders of the EU, including Polish borders provided they:

- hold a valid transport document
- hold a valid visa, in the event when it is obligatory
- justify the purpose and conditions of their intended stay and prove they have sufficient means of subsistence for the planned stay and for a return journey to their country of origin or that they are capable to obtain such means lawfully
- have appropriate travel medical insurance

You need to apply for a visa in a Polish consular office in your country of residence, providing the letter of invitation from Jagiellonian University in Kraków. You should apply for a visa in advance as the issuing procedures can last several weeks.

Schengen visa

Poland is a Member State of the Schengen Area. Receiving a short-stay Schengen visa (marked with a \( \text{C} \) symbol) allows a foreigner to enter the Polish territory and to travel freely within the Schengen Area. This type of visa gives its holder the right to spend up to 90 days within the Schengen Area within the period of six months. The period is calculated from the first entry. If you plan to spend less than 90 days in Poland, you should apply for this type of visa.

National visa

If you plan to spend more than 90 days (at least 91) in Poland, then you should apply for a long-stay Polish national visa (marked with a \( \text{D} \) symbol). Such visas are issued for a period no longer than a year and allow its holder to move within the territory of other Schengen states for up to three months within a half-year period.
Health care in Poland

If you are a EU/ EFTA and you have the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) then you are entitled to receive free health care services. Using your card you can go directly to a General Practitioner.

Citizens of the EU/ EFTA who are not insured in their country of origin or students from countries outside the EU/EFTA should purchase insurance before they arrive in Poland or purchase insurance in the Polish National Health Fund (Narodowy Fundusz Zdrowia - NFZ). The monthly cost of such insurance for students is around 40 PLN (9 EUR). Foreigners insured in NFZ, are treated equally to Polish citizens and have the same access to health care benefits and the financing of these benefits.

Persons without health insurance coverage in Poland or any other member state of the EU/ EFTA, may - as a general rule - use health benefits for a fee. In the event of presenting an appropriate health insurance policy (for example the policy required for the Schengen visa), a facility offering medical assistance may settle the costs directly with the insurer.
All students who hold the Card of the Pole or have documented adherence to the Polish nation may be insured free of charge at JU. These persons need to contact the Office for Student Affairs. The Card of the Pole entitles its holder to benefit from free treatment in the facilities of the National Health Fund only in cases of emergency.
Student dormitories

Jagiellonian University offers more than 3000 places in 6 student dormitories which are: Bursa Jagiellońska, Bydgoska (blocks B, C, D), Kamionka, Nawojka, Piast, Żaczek.

Exchange students are only allocated in Żaczek (aleja 3 Maja 5) and Piast (ul. Piastowska 47) in two-bedroom dorms. Each year, the Rector allocates a certain number of places in dorms to the International Students Office. Therefore, it is possible that some students will be allocated to dorms other than those listed above.

The cost of renting a two-bedded room is around 400 PLN (93 EUR) per month.

The number of places in student dormitories is limited, therefore please apply for a place as soon as possible. If you would like to resign from the place you have been granted, please notify the ISO as soon as possible. Scholarship holders are awarded with places in dormitories according to the terms of the respective scholarship programme.

Application procedure

a. Students of mobility programmes and international exchanges

During the completion of the online application form, please choose that you would like to apply for the dormitory. Afterwards, you will need to fill in an application form in USOSweb system (internal university system). You will be informed whether you have been granted a place, when you receive the acceptance letter.

b. Scholarship holders

You can apply for a dormitory place via the USOSweb system, for further guidance please contact the ISO team.

Private accommodation

There are plenty of rooms and flats for rent in Kraków. A monthly rent varies from 700 to 2000 PLN, depending on the location, size and standard of the place. Finding accommodation may be difficult in September at the beginning of the academic year. Therefore, it is advisable to look for a place well in advance. While looking for accommodation it is recommended to carefully check its distance from university facilities and the time needed to commute.

Please remember to enter into a tenancy agreement with the landlord. In the event of a dispute, a well drafted tenancy agreement will protect you from any possible problems. Although it happens rather rarely in Kraków, you may come across a dishonest person. If you have any doubts or concerns regarding the tenancy conditions, you can seek assistance from a Mentor or ISO team.

While looking for private housing, it is worth contacting:

Biuro Pośrednictwa Mieszkań i Pracy
ul. Piastowska 47, Kraków
e-mail: biuro@zamieszka.bratniak.org

The transfer can be done in every local post office or bank. Paying in euro is not advised as the amount of transferred money may not equal to 17 PLN which will result in the prolongation of the issue of the card until the exact amount will be paid.
- provide a passport photo

You do not need to bring a photo if you have uploaded it during application process and it has been accepted.

It is advised to pay for the student ID card at a local post office. In Poland it is possible to make cash transfers at postal offices.

At the end of the semester, you need to extend the validity of the student ID card in the ISO. Student ID cards are not extended automatically.

Grading system

At Jagiellonian University, exams and courses are assessed according to the following scale:

Zaliczenie (non-graded pass) and Niezaliczenie (fail)

At JU not all classes are assessed by a written or oral examination. Some lecturers require students to perform other forms of activity to pass their classes, for example to actively participate in classes or to prepare a presentation. If the given subject is not assessed by an exam, the following grades may be awarded:

- ZAL- zaliczenie – student has passed their classes, no grade has been awarded as it was not required by the lecturer
- ZAL z oceną – non-graded pass with a grade – student has passed their classes and has been awarded a grade as it has been required by the lecturer
- NZAL – niezaliczenie – student has not passed their classes, no grade has been awarded

ECTS

ECTS points are awarded to students for completion of a subject prescribed in the study programme when a student fulfilled requirements concerning acquiring of the assumed learning outcomes. One ECTS point corresponds to learning outcomes which require from a student on average 25-30 hours of work, while the number of student’s hours of work includes classes organized by the university according to the study programme, as well as student’s individual work.

Exams

Exams (written and oral) are taken by students in two examination periods during the winter and summer term. During each term there are two exam sessions: the first session and a resit exam session, during which there are no classes. Often students may take a ‘zero’ exam that is an exam which is held before the start of an examination period, usually failing this type of exam has no consequences for the student. The lecturer decides whether to organize a ‘zero’ exam.

Students who have failed their exams in the first examination session, may sit a second exam during the resit examination period, the dates are usually settled by the lecturers.

After you have passed an exam the grade will be recorded by the academic teacher in your USOSweb account. If you have failed an exam, you will not receive ECTS points for the respective subject.

Plagiarism

Some academic teachers may ask students to submit written papers during the academic year. Therefore, please keep in mind that plagiarism is strictly forbidden at the JU and results in fail. The following things are considered as plagiarism:

- turning in someone else’s work as your own
- copying words or ideas from someone else without giving credit
- failing to put a quotation in quotation marks
- giving incorrect information about the source of a quotation
- changing words but copying the sentence structure of a source without giving credit
• copying so many words or ideas from a source that it makes up the majority of your work, whether you give credit or not

Detected cases of plagiarism initiate an investigation that may result in bringing of the case to the Disciplinary Committee requesting the start of disciplinary proceeding and punishment of the student.

1. to store objects in staircases, particularly on marked emergency routes – during evacuation these objects could pose a threat;
2. to use fire-fighting equipment for purposes other than fire prevention
3. to block fire doors – blocking doors to stop them from shutting automatically, makes it impossible to prevent fire from spreading.

Residents are obliged to strictly comply with fire prevention regulations and to leave the building if evacuation has been ordered and to head to the assembly point.
Privacy

Dormitory staff does not enter rooms during residents’ absence, except for the following cases:

- suspicion of life-threatening situation
- suspicion of serious violation of the dormitory’s rules

- during the duration of the relocation procedure

In the situations mentioned above, staff of the dormitory enters the room accompanied by a member of the Council of Residents or a representative of the PhD Student’s Association.

Please keep in mind that the dormitory administrator is not financially liable for residents’ personal belongings, unless damage has been caused as a result of dormitory staff’s actions.

Receiving visitors

Residents should have on them their Resident’s card while entering the dormitory, whereas visitors should leave a personal identity document at the reception. Responsibility for visitor’s behaviour lies with the resident of the dormitory.

- possesses weapons, objects or substances that may pose a threat to human life or health

Penalties

Failing to comply with fire prevention rules or hindering evacuation is a serious breach of safety regulations and in most cases results in expulsion from dormitory. Moreover, students and PhD candidates may be expelled from dormitory for damaging property or breaching generally accepted principles of social coexistence. A student or PhD candidate who has been expelled from the dormitory may be denied university accommodation in upcoming years.

Remember that smoking is forbidden on the premises of the University, including student dormitories, except for designated smoking areas. According to Polish law, drinking alcohol (even the possession) is forbidden on the premises of students dormitories.

Discrimination

Discrimination is an unequal, inferior, often also unlawful act, omission, criterion or regulation concerning people or groups on grounds of their actual or alleged identity traits, such as: sex, gender identity, skin colour (‘race’), language, national and/or ethnic origin, religion, denomination or irreligiousness, world-view, health status and degree of ability, age, psychosexual orientation, socio-economic status etc. (it is not a closed catalogue).

Pursuant to the regulations applicable in Poland, e.g. the Labour Code and the so-called Equality Act, the following forms of discrimination are distinguished:

- direct discrimination
- indirect discrimination
- harassment
- sexual harassment
- incitement to discrimination

Harassment

Undesirable behaviour related to one or several identity traits, whose aim or result is the violation of a natural person’s dignity and creating in relation to them an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, humiliating and disparaging atmosphere, e.g. jokes and comments containing anti-Semitic, racist, homophobic, sexist (referring to gender), disagreeable and offensive insults as well as persistent silence in the presence of that person, bullying, crossing physical and psychological limits, making offensive gestures or noises etc.

Sexual harassment

Any undesirable behaviour of a sexual nature or referring to the gender of a person, whose aim or result is the violation of a natural person’s dignity, especially by creating in relation to them an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, humiliating and disparaging atmosphere; such behaviour may be composed of physical, verbal or non-verbal elements (e.g. touching, coming up too close, groping, comments referring to appearance, the body of female or male students as well as showing or posting photographs presenting women as sexual objects). The term ‘undesirable behaviour’ emphasises the lack of consent to certain behaviours and an expression of objection to them.

Hate speech

All forms of expression (spoken, written, graphic representations etc.) mocking, degrading, abusing, accusing people or other entities as well as threatening them or instilling a sense of threat in them due to their actual or alleged identity trait. Hate speech is the public expression of beliefs that depreciate, denigrate, and dehumanise a group of people due to some identity traits. We are dealing with hate speech also in the case when genocide, crimes against humanity or war crimes are publicly denied, trivialised or justified. One example of hate speech is xenophobic, anti-Semitic, and racist slogans and drawings, e.g. on walls or in the media.

In Poland, defamation or incitement to hate on grounds of nationality, race, ethnicity, religion or irreligion is forbidden and punishable pursuant to Articles 256 and 257 of the Polish Criminal Code. These crimes are prosecuted in Poland ex officio which means that the police or prosecutor’s office are obliged to initiate legal action. Although it is vital you report any of such incidents. There is no specific criminal law provision in Poland providing direct protection of people against hate speech on other grounds, yet, depending on the factual circumstances, the conduct of a person using hate speech may amount to a criminal offence.

4 The part concerning discrimination, harassment, sexual harassment and hate speech has been prepared on the basis of: A. Teutsch, M. Stoch, A. Kozakosczak, A. Mazurczak, A document concerning the prevention of discrimination and bias-motivated crime for students, doctoral students, and university teachers, pages 4-6, prepared at the order of Katarzyna Jurzak – Rector’s Proxy for Student Safety and Security, Jagiellonian University in Kraków; Just & Safer Cities For All – Local actions to Prevent and Combat Racism and All Forms of Intolerance, JUST/2014/RRAC/AG/BEST/6673.
