

FleishmanHillard EU Undergraduate Internship Programme 2022 - 2023

FleishmanHillard is one of the largest communications agencies in the world. We are currently seeking undergraduate interns to spend the academic year 2022 - 2023 working in our dynamic European Union office in Brussels.

Consider yourself a European?
Ever wondered what it's like to be a lobbyist?
Want to be part of the EU process instead of just studying it?

THE INTERNSHIP

The internship will provide numerous great opportunities including:

- Working during the full academic year in a multinational and dynamic office of one of the world's largest communications agencies
- The reality of working with the European Union's politics, policies and institutional processes on a daily basis—putting theory into practice
- The ability to gain practical experience of the disciplines of public affairs, corporate and internal communications in one of our largest offices in Europe
- Being a full member of our team exposed to all aspects of consultancy life
- An environment to grow and hone business skills. Mentors at the (senior) consultant level are assigned at the beginning of your internship to provide guidance throughout your year at FleishmanHillard
- Build your professional network

THE RESPONSIBILITIES

- Attending public deliberations of the EU institutions, press conferences and policy workshops
- Conducting desk and phone research with institutions and monitoring of policy developments
- Drafting of briefing notes and analyses of EU policies
- Being a proactive member of the team
- Participating in internal brainstorms and strategy sessions
- Abiding by the European Public Affairs Consultancies Association Code of Conduct

ABOUT FH

Is one of the world's leading communications firms, with over 2,400 employees working in more than 80 offices in 30 countries around the globe. Our public affairs practice offers the premier network dedicated to public affairs with over 500 specialised consultants in offices throughout Europe, and North America.

“Not only is an internship at FleishmanHillard a great opportunity to enhance your knowledge on EU politics, but it most importantly provides an insight of the interactions between corporate and public bodies. As an intern, you’re being given important responsibilities and treated as a full member of the team. The internship programme is a unique experience for anyone interested in politics and covers a wide range of other topics depending on the team you’re in, including finance, healthcare, tech, communication etc.”

Clovis de Bryas
University of Bath
Intern, 2021-2022

“Working at FH, a so diverse and welcoming company, is brilliant. Right from the beginning of my internship I started to learn a great amount about public affairs and the European Union, and I continue to do so every day. What I especially like about the culture, is that as an intern you are not merely an intern but are seen as an important part of the team and in that sense get a great amount of responsibility which is very empowering.”

University of Warwick
Intern, 2021-2022

THE INTERN

The programme is aimed at undergraduates currently completing their second year at university in courses such as political science, communications or business where there is a strong European focus

An ideal candidate should have:

- A “can-do” approach to life and the ability to produce work to high standard, including attention to detail
- An interest in the politics, policy and people of the European Union and how it impacts the business environment
- Excellent computer and internet research skills: Word, PowerPoint, Excel, knowledge of European Union institutional websites
- Strong analytical skills and digital expertise
- The capacity to deal with conflicting priorities, work under pressure and deliver on deadlines
- Excellent communication skills and networking ability
- An ability to work in an innovative environment, with a proactive and multi-cultural team
- Fluency in English (oral and written) with an ability to use at least one other European language

THE APPLICATION

Interested students should submit a Curriculum Vitae and a letter of motivation to FleishmanHillard via the course leader at their university:

- Initial applications should be submitted via their course leaders by Friday, 28th January 2022, 5pm BST
- Interviews with selected students (selection based on prior written test) will take place in mid-February 2022
- Non-European nationals need to have the right to work in Belgium

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Remuneration | FleishmanHillard EU covers the monthly living expenses of undergraduate interns and provides for two return journeys to the intern’s home country per internship (within the EU)

Academic commitments | FleishmanHillard EU is happy to discuss with partner institutions arrangements to ensure a certain part of the working week is set aside for research for final year dissertations or research projects. We are also happy to seek to ensure that interns are placed in an environment where specific language skills are used as required by their course programmes
